PATIENTS' RIGHTS

For the purpose of this brochure, “patient” refers to the patient, patient representative or surrogate.

A patient has the right to respectful, considerate, private and dignified care given by competent personnel.

A patient has the right, upon request, to be given the name of his/her attending practitioner, the names of all other practitioners directly participating in his/her care, and the names and functions of other health care persons having direct contact with the patient.

A patient has the right to consider of privacy concerning his own medical care program. Case discussion, consultation, examination and treatment are considered confidential and shall be conducted discreetly.

A patient has the right to have records pertaining to his/her medical care treated as confidential, except as otherwise provided by law, or third party contractual agreement.

A patient has the right to know what ambulatory surgery facility rules and regulations apply to his/her conduct as a patient.

A patient has the right to expect emergency procedures to be implemented without unnecessary delay.

A patient has the right to quality care and high professional standards that are continually maintained and reviewed in a safe setting free from all forms of abuse or harassment.

A patient has the right to full information in layman’s terms, concerning diagnosis, evaluation, treatment and prognosis, including information about alternative treatments and possible complications. When it is not medically advisable to give the information to the patient, the information shall be given on his behalf to the responsible person.

Except for emergencies, the practitioner shall obtain the necessary informed consent prior to the start of a procedure. Informed consent is defined in Section 103 of the Health Care Services Malpractice Act (40 P. S. § 1301.103).

A patient, or, if the patient is unable to give informed consent, a person responsible for the patient, has the right to be advised when a practitioner is considering the patient as a part of a medical care research program or donor program, and the patient, or responsible person, shall give informed consent prior to actual participation in the program. A patient, or responsible person, may refuse to continue in a program to which he or she has previously given informed consent.

A patient has the right to refuse drugs or procedures, to the extent permitted by statute, and a practitioner shall inform the patient of the medical consequences of the patient’s refusal of drugs or procedures.

A patient has the right to medical and nursing services without discrimination based upon age, race, color, religion, gender, national origin, handicap, disability or source of payment.

A patient who does not speak English shall have access, when possible, to an interpreter.

A patient, or patient designee, upon request, shall have access to the information contained in his/her medical records at the ambulatory surgical facility, unless the attending practitioner for medical reasons specifically restricts access.

A patient has the right to expect good management techniques to be practiced within the ambulatory surgical facility. These techniques shall make effective use of the patient’s time and shall avoid personal discomfort of the patient.

A patient has the right to be transferred to another facility when an emergency occurs and to have the responsible person notified. The facility to which the patient is transferred shall be notified prior to the patient’s transfer.

A patient has the right to examine and receive a detailed explanation of his/her bill.

A patient has the right to be informed of his/her rights, responsibilities, and expected conduct by the ambulatory surgical facility prior to admission.

A patient has the right to examine and receive a detailed explanation of his/her bill.

A patient has the right to full information in layman’s terms, concerning diagnosis, evaluation, treatment and prognosis, including information about alternative treatments and possible complications. When it is not medically advisable to give the information to the patient, the information shall be given on his behalf to the responsible person.

Except for emergencies, the practitioner shall obtain the necessary informed consent prior to the start of a procedure. Informed consent is defined in Section 103 of the Health Care Services Malpractice Act (40 P. S. § 1301.103).

A patient, or, if the patient is unable to give informed consent, a person responsible for the patient, has the right to be advised when a practitioner is considering the patient as a part of a medical care research program or donor program, and the patient, or responsible person, shall give informed consent prior to actual participation in the program. A patient, or responsible person, may refuse to continue in a program to which he or she has previously given informed consent.

A patient has the right to refuse drugs or procedures, to the extent permitted by statute, and a practitioner shall inform the patient of the medical consequences of the patient’s refusal of drugs or procedures.

A patient has the right to medical and nursing services without discrimination based upon age, race, color, religion, gender, national origin, handicap, disability or source of payment.

A patient who does not speak English shall have access, when possible, to an interpreter.

A patient, or patient designee, upon request, shall have access to the information contained in his/her medical records at the ambulatory surgical facility, unless the attending practitioner for medical reasons specifically restricts access.

A patient has the right to expect good management techniques to be practiced within the ambulatory surgical facility. These techniques shall make effective use of the patient’s time and shall avoid personal discomfort of the patient.

A patient has the right to be transferred to another facility when an emergency occurs and to have the responsible person notified. The facility to which the patient is transferred shall be notified prior to the patient’s transfer.

A patient has the right to examine and receive a detailed explanation of his/her bill.

A patient has the right to be informed of his/her rights, responsibilities, and expected conduct by the ambulatory surgical facility prior to admission.

A patient has the right to exercise his/her rights without being subjected to discrimination or reprisal.

A patient, if adjudged incompetent under applicable State laws by a court of proper jurisdiction, the rights of the patient are exercised by the person appointed under State law. A legal representative designated by the patient in accordance with State law may exercise the patient’s rights to the extent allowed by State law.

A patient has the right to the opportunity to approve or refuse release of his/her medical care records prior to submission to any party, including third parties based on law.

A patient has the right to be given the opportunity to participate in decisions involving his/her health care, except when such participation is contraindicated for medical reasons.

A patient has the right to information on advance directives, as required by state or Federal law and regulations. A patient has the right to be advised when a practitioner is considering the patient available at the ambulatory surgical facility, the fees related as a part of a medical care research program or donor program, and the fees related to those services, and the payment policies governing restitution for services rendered.

A patient has the right to information on informed consent prior to actual participation in the program. A patient, or responsible person, may refuse to continue in a program to which he or she has previously given informed consent.

A patient has the right to be transferred to another facility when an emergency occurs and to have the responsible person notified. The facility to which the patient is transferred shall be notified prior to the patient’s transfer.

A patient has the right to examine and receive a detailed explanation of his/her bill.

A patient has the right to be informed of his/her rights, responsibilities, and expected conduct by the ambulatory surgical facility prior to admission.
A patient has the right to obtain the names, addresses, and telephone numbers from the Administrative Director, or designee, of the governmental offices where complaints may be lodged.

A patient has a right to obtain the names, addresses, and telephone numbers of the offices where information concerning Medicare and Medicaid coverage can be obtained.

A patient has the right to be informed of a physician’s financial interest in and ownership of the facility in accordance with federal and state regulations.

A patient has the right to change their provider if other qualified providers are available.

A patient has the right, without recrimination, to voice comments, suggestions, complaints, and grievances regarding care; to have those complaints reviewed and when possible, resolved; and when not resolved, to obtain information regarding external appeals, as required by state and Federal law and regulations.

The patient may contact the following individual who serves as the Grievance Officer at the facility to express a complaint or grievance:

Administrative Director: Kristi Vargo, R.N.
610-527-3800 ext 3126

You may contact the Department of Health complaint hotline 24 hours a day, 7 days a week at 1-800-254-5164 with any complaint or grievance should it not be resolved by the Center to your satisfaction. Complaints can be mailed to the following:

Bureau Director
PA Department of Health
Division of Acute and Ambulatory Care
Health and Welfare Building
8th Floor West
625 Forster Street
Harrisburg, PA 17120

Medicare beneficiaries may refer their complaints to the Office of the Medicare Beneficiary Ombudsman at https://www.medicare.gov/claims-appeals/your-medicare-rights/get-help-with-your-rights-protections

---

.patients’ responsibilities

A patient is responsible for providing complete and accurate information to the best of his/her ability about his/her health, any medications, including over the counter products and dietary supplements as well as any allergies or sensitivities and for following their physician’s instructions and medical orders.

A patient is responsible for reporting whether he/she clearly comprehends a contemplated course of action and what is expected of them.

The ambulatory surgery facility expects that the patient will cooperate with all ambulatory surgery facility personnel and ask questions if directions and/or procedures are not clearly understood.

A patient is expected to be respectful of the property of other persons and the property of the ambulatory surgery facility.

A patient assumes financial responsibility of paying for all services rendered whether through third party payors (his/her insurance company) or being personally responsible for payment for any services which are not covered by his/her insurance policies.

A patient will inform his/her provider about any living will, medical power of attorney or other directive that could affect his/her care.

A patient will provide a responsible adult to transport his/her home from the facility and remain with his/her for 24 hours, if required by his/her provider.

The physicians and staff of Bryn Mawr Medical Specialists Endoscopy Associates are committed to serving their patients and families with the highest standards of care. We strive to continuously improve our standards through education, technology and awareness of health care costs to meet the ever-changing needs of our patients.